CoBaTrICE: Actual state
HUR reported on the achievements done so far

1. Adoption of the competencies
A survey will be conducted among the members of the CoBaForum to know how the competencies are implemented nationally and who the actors are in this process.

2. Common Training Framework
The Common Training Framework on Intensive Care Medicine was adopted by the UEMS Council in October 2014. The document, based on CoBaTrICE, has now to be presented to the NTO’s (mailing done on May 22, 2015 by ESICM DPD/HUR).

3. Update of competencies list
HUR presented the revised list of competencies (CoBa 2.0). The group agreed that the revised list of competencies (CoBaTrICE 2.0) should be submitted as manuscript to ICM. Care must be taken to take into consideration the minor but relevant differences to CTF ICM (see also topic 2, above). Authorship: CoBaFaculty, with feedback from CoBaForum.

The basic competencies on echo and ultrasound are still missing. F Rubulotta and A Wong are in charge to define those competencies.

4. EDIC Blueprint
The EDIC Committee has revised their blueprint for both exams (oral and written). The blueprint is now adapted to the version 2.0 of CoBaTrICE. M. Maggiorini (chair ESICM examination committee) is in charge.

5. e-Learning Platform
CoBaTrICE will be used on the new e-learning platform (ESICM Academy) as the backbone of this educational tool, namely through its logbook and portfolio.
The attendees described what is done in their country. In France, the logbook is electronic and is coordinated in Paris. In Scandinavia, the logbook is still on paper form. In Germany, as in France, the process is based on voluntary registration.
Actual state of e-learning platform: to be presented during meeting of CoBaForum (following the present meeting).

6. Plans for future
CoBaFaculty and CoBaForum will support the recognition of ICM as “particular qualification” on the European level. The group agrees that there will be several activities to support this process (see also topic 3, above). Among other, it is agreed that an “ESICM education day” would be a good opportunity to promote these concepts.

Next meetings:
- Spring 2016, Brussels, date and time tba.
- Oct. 07, 2016 08:30 – 10:00, Milan Italy (during ESICM annual congress)
